"at the edge"

Novas Gallery Camden

29.11.07 – 25.01.08

The survey on the reverse of this invitation was originally conducted as part of Robert Lenkiewicz' 'Vagrancy' project. The project culminated in an exhibition of paintings in Plymouth in 1973. The original survey was conducted in Plymouth 35 years ago. We decided that it would be valuable to repeat the survey in Camden Town to mark the opening of the Lenkiewicz exhibition and to gain a current insight into attitudes to 'vagrancy', homelessness and issues of social exclusion. Today, the term 'Vagrant' seems very dated, some might find it objectionable and might not use it however, it was the term Lenkiewicz used and so we are using it too.

How is vagrancy perceived now?

We would be grateful if you could find the time to make a brief reply. On behalf of Novas Gallery Camden and all involved with 'at the edge', thank you for your help.
